青花为瓷器釉彩名,也是白地蓝花瓷器的专称。典型的青花器系用钴料在瓷坯上描绘纹饰,然后施透明釉,在高温中一次烧成。蓝花在釉下,因此属釉下彩。

景德镇为青花瓷制作重镇,对它来说元代是极其重要的转折时期。首先改进瓷胎原料,提高烧成温度;其次在青花瓷器中,中国的绘画技巧与瓷器装饰的结合更趋成熟。

典型呈色近灰暗色的元青花发现的数量并不太多。五十年前人们对遗存的元青瓷还所知甚少,但由于近三四十年中,国内窖藏、墓葬出土资料的不断发现,以及对传世品的鉴别,对元青花才有一定的认识。其器型有瓶、罐、盘、觚、杯、盒、碗、匜等。元青花在土耳其、伊朗、印度尼西亚及菲律宾都有收藏;日本、印度、马来西亚等地也有出土,元汪大渊《岛夷志略》有关于青白瓷器外销的记载。

Blue-and-white, originally known as a kind of porcelain glaze, refers to the porcelain with white background and blue glaze painting. Its typical production process involves the decoration on a bisque with a cobalt, glazing, and then firing at one go under a high temperature.

Jingdezhen has been an important town for its blue-and-white production. This town in the Yuan Dynasty experienced a significant transition period. First, the raw materials for porcelain bisques were improved and the firing temperature raised; secondly, the Chinese brush painting skills and the porcelain decorating craftsmanship were combined in a more mature way in the blue-and-white.

There are not many pieces of blue-and-white found so far with the typical colour of pale and dark. Little was known about the remaining pieces of Yuan blue-and-white some five decades ago. It is only in the past thirty or forty years that people began to have some notion about it with the successive discovery of information on kiln ruins and unearthed articles in tombs and the expert examination on the residues. Yuan blue-and-white takes a wide variety of forms, including vase, pot, plate, beaker, cup, burner, box bowl, ladle, etc.

Yuan blue-and-white has been collected by connoisseurs from Turkey, Iran, Indonesia and Philippines and excavated in Japan, India and Malaysia. Sketches of Foreign Islands written by Wang Dayuan of the Yuan Dynasty kept a record of exportation of the blue-and-white porcelain.
